HYDRANGEA LIST

Annabelle: Hydrangea arborescens 'Annabelle'

Height: 4-5' Width: 3-5' Part Sun to Shade Zone 3 White Flowers

Annabelle is a smooth hydrangea cultivar which features much larger flowers than the species. Large white flowers appear in symmetrical, rounded heads. Blooms by late June into September, sometimes with a small repeat bloom in the fall. It often takes a number of years to attain full flowering. Early blooming stage may have a greenish cast or mature into a greenish cast. Thrives in shade. Tolerates full sun only if grown with consistent moisture. Best to trim to within 10" of the soil in late fall. Blooms off of new wood.
