

Hanson's Garden Village's 2022 Spring Newsletter

We are busy getting ready for our spring season and looking forward to welcoming back our wonderful customers both old and new!

This is looking to be another great year and while the entire world is still being affected by supply chain issues and increases in shipping and labor costs, we are remaining steadfast in offering our customers great quality plants and exceptional customer service.

Brent turned 70 in January and celebrated with family and grilled cheese! Brent and Sue also recently Booked Across the Bay and skied from Ashland to Washburn on Lake Superior. They will be celebrating their 40th wedding anniversary this June!

Beth was recently honored by the Rhinelander Chamber of Commerce and Forward Rhinelander with a 10 Under 40 Award for Rhinelander. We love working with our community and making Rhinelander a great place to be!

A new product for Hanson's this spring is our own, locally raised, grass fed beef. We have ground beef and other cuts like steaks, roasts, stew meat and ox tail.

We are also planning to replace our #7 and #8 greenhouses (some of the oldest hoop houses on site) with a new, larger structure that will have some connection to our General Store. This construction is hopefully happening this summer and will create more easily accessible shopping areas.

We have some exciting new events and partnerships with other Rhinelander organizations happening this spring.

Stop out on Saturday, March 19th for free greenhouse tours of our facility and get excited for spring! More details on this event are listed below.

We will be partnering with the Rhinelander District Library to host a book reading and signing by regional author Cindy Pesek of "Papa Chuck's Garden" on Saturday, May 14th. After the reading will be a family seed planting activity with the library, Hanson's Garden Village, Cindy and Papa Chuck.

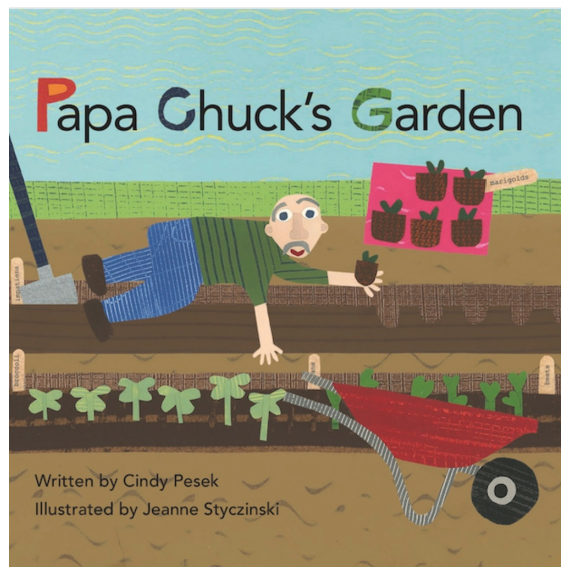

We are gearing up for an exciting Herb Fest as well! This year we will be hosting Jane Hawley Stevens from Four Elements Organic Herbs. She is a pioneer in organic farming and herbal uses. She has been featured on Larry Mueller's Garden Talk on Wisconsin Public Radio and sells her products across the country.

We are now accepting pre-orders for bare root plants as well as registration for spring classes. Seeds and growing mix are now available. Our office is open weekdays from 8:30am-5:00pm, but our General Store won't be open until late April/early May. If you need to escape the winter weather, we welcome you to stop out and visit our warm greenhouses during open hours.

We are currently hiring for spring help! We are looking for people experienced in native perennials, plant propagation, construction/plumbing/electrical work, tree and shrub management and cashiering. Job descriptions and our application are listed on our website under the Employment tab.

Explore this newsletter for lots more information and details on everything happening at Hanson's this spring!

See you soon!

SEE OUR 2022 BARE ROOT LIST HERE!

Bare root plants save time and money! Bare root plants are a very successful, inexpensive way to plant. Most bare root selections cost 50% less than potted varieties and are easier to move and plant. We also guarantee all bare root plants through the growing season.

Bare root plants are sold dormant and can be planted as soon as you can dig a hole in the ground. The roots are exposed (not potted) and must be kept moist until planting occurs. Because of the nature of bare root plants, they are only available in the early spring and sell out quickly.

Herb Fest is scheduled for Saturday, June 18th, 2022. This is a free, fun event that celebrates all things herbs and other gardening topics. There will be talks, demos, sales and much more! We will be partnering with Nicolet College to promote this exciting event!

This year will feature guest speaker Jane Hawley Stevens of Four Elements Organic Herbs. Jane began specializing in herbs in 1981 after earning her Horticulture degree from U.W. Madison. Opportunities in herb garden design evolved into using herbs in cooking and home remedies. In 1987 she began Four Elements Organic Herbs, continuing to grow herbs used for wellbeing. Grown and harvested on her 130-acre farm in the Baraboo Bluff of Wisconsin, products are handmade by dedicated local women and sold throughout the country.

A pioneer in organic farming and the natural product industry, Jane has taken her love and reverence for nature to inspire others through her effective products and teaching at organic herb, garden and professional events. Her desire is to connect people consciously to that which sustains them.
